CoreCard Adds Installment Loan Module to Its Credit Software Offerings

NORCROSS, GA, August 8, 2007 CoreCard Software, a leading provider of prepaid and credit processing and licensed software, announced today that it has added installment loan functionality to its range of credit, debit and prepaid software solutions.

The new installment loan module provides functionality and options to efficiently record, maintain and report on the entire closed-end lending process including loan origination, document creation, customer service, early payoff and collections. CoreISSUE's loan module supports basic installment loans as well as the automatic creation of installment loans from a specific purchase or transfer of a revolving credit balance to an installment loan.

 "The new installment loan capability adds an important dimension to our credit software portfolio," said Leland Strange, Chief Executive Officer of CoreCard. "It enhances the credit options for our CoreISSUE clients, who can tailor this solution to meet their specific business needs."

CoreISSUE is a sophisticated and flexible transaction payment processing and reporting system. Because each financial institution has its own distinctive products and procedures, CoreISSUE allows clients to customize their processing to satisfy unique internal requirements while simultaneously meeting broader regulatory requirements.

To keep pace with the increasing need for international functionality, the CoreISSUE system provides multi-currency and multi-language processing.
